

Marti Smith, OTR/L

Marti Smith has been a practicing occupational therapist in school systems, private practice, Birth to Three, and geriatric rehabilitation since 1996. She graduated from Indiana University School of Medicine, Allied Health Sciences. Her specialties include Sensory Regulation, Autism, handwriting, and providing creative, quality care while working in low-income demographic areas.

Marti has a deep passion for creative problem-solving using minimal resources. She focuses on keeping treatment sessions innovative, interesting, and fun and has published a how-to book on making inexpensive rehab equipment with PVC called "PVC for Rehab Professionals".

Marti has been a national speaker since 2002 and credits countless attendees with many of the ideas referenced in her courses. Marti is a gifted public speaker, particularly skilled at presenting large quantities of useful information in entertaining and fun ways. She enjoys gathering information and helping others organize it into practical and useful resources.

Marti currently resides in Austin, TX with her husband and two children. She provides private therapy in a self-constructed full scale OT gym. Marti is certified in Therapeutic Listening, Interactive Metronome, CiSM, Athletic Training, and Massage Therapy.

---